

ART=CITY

This Week's Must-See Art Events: Art Gets Back to Business

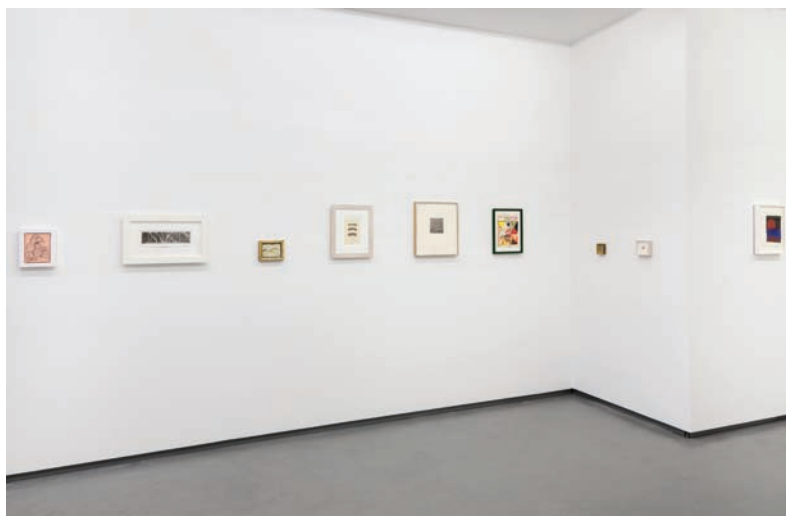

by CORINNA KIRSCH AND WHITNEY KIMBALL on JANUARY 6, 2014

The Age of Small Things

Curated by Chuck Webster

I'm really into the premise of this exhibition: Show small artworks by artists. It's actually a big "Take that!" in an art market-dominated era of art, when the big and flashy usually garner more at auctions and the fairs. Comprised mostly of doodles and the stuff stored away in boxes, these drawings are the kind of works that're made when nobody's watching.

Artists include: Ellen Altfest, Donald Baechler, Balthus, Brian Belott, Jake Berthot, Katherine Bradford, Brice Brown, Charles Burchfield, Valerio Castello, Vija Celmins, Joseph Cornell, Carroll Dunham, James Benjamin Franklin, Suzan Frecon, Ted Gahl, Robert Gober, Glenn Goldberg, Philip Guston, Trenton Doyle Hancock, Mary Heilmann, Alfred Jensen, Bill Jensen, Don Joint, John Lees, Brice Marden, Chris Martin, Joan Mitchell, Elie Nadelman, Francis Picabia, Sigmar Polke, Tal R, James Siena, Ross Simonini, Kiki Smith, Myron Stout, Richard Tuttle, Dan Walsh, Chuck Webster, John Wesley, Michael Williams, and Terry Winters

THE AGE OF SMALL THINGS, Installation view. Photo: Martin Parsekian